Excellence in School Service Award 2011 Nominations

Alstonville High School is once again calling for nominations for the Excellence in School Service Award.

The aim of this award is to acknowledge the work of parents, carers, members of the community, staff and students who make a special contribution to the school. We will issue up to 10 of these awards each year. Criteria for the award include:

- Making a significant contribution to extra curricula school activities for a period of more than one school year
- Making a positive contribution to improving the school’s image in the wider community – being a positive ambassador for Alstonville High School
- Making a significant contribution to improving resources for students at Alstonville High School
- Making a significant contribution to student welfare through involvement in school activities (beyond normal expectations)

The P&C has endorsed these awards and we ask that you nominate deserving recipients. Nominations should be addressed to David Silcock and submitted by Monday 21st November.
Excellence in School Service Award 2011 Nominations Form

- Name or person being nominated: .................................................................
- Nominated by: .................................................. Seconded by: ......................
- Making a significant contribution to extra curricula school activities for a period of more than one school year:

- Making a positive contribution to improving the school’s image in the wider community – being a positive ambassador for Alstonville High School:

- Making a significant contribution to improving resources for students at Alstonville High School:

- Making a significant contribution to student welfare through involvement in school activities (beyond normal expectations):

- Signature:
- Date:

(Nominations due by Monday November 21st to David Silcock – Principal)